About Our Music Leader

Janet Pyle is the Music Leader for the Georgetown Fourth Day Group. Each month she contacts various Emmaus musicians from a membership list. Once she knows which musicians will be available for gathering that month, she selects music, asking for solos and leads. Once finalized, the music list and music goes out to the musicians and our Fourth Day leaders. The musicians can then download the music for the service.

Janet is always open for suggestions, so please email her any song selections you may have to janetlynn29@hotmail.com.

“For as long as I can remember, music has always been an important part of my life. Singing every song we knew on long trips in the car or singing around my grandmother’s piano during family gatherings – there always seemed to be music in my life. I was part of my church’s Cherub Choir as a young child, graduating through each level of choirs until high school when I became part of the first handbell choir in the Chicago area. The choir actually traveled along with our directors, Mr. and Mrs. Harling, to numerous churches throughout the area. We performed for churches - for at that time churches were considering this new worship phenomenon - handbells.

I also was part of my Junior High and High School Glee Clubs which has given me many, many fond memories. And along with my older sister and brother, we were given weekly piano lessons. The weekly trek to piano lessons took us to our teacher’s dairy farm in Illinois. So while my brother and sister were given their lesson, I was experiencing Dairy Operations 101. Again, many fond memories. My mother paid for our lessons by taking in sewing projects. And piano practicing was not just encouraged, it was expected.

During high school I took organ lessons from our church organist. Mrs. Lindberg took me to church music workshops, encouraged me to play preludes and postludes during our church services. This was training ground to becoming a church musician.”

Janet has been a church musician and church music director for several Methodist churches over the course of 30 plus years. Janet also teaches piano, giving private lessons and instilling the love of music in her students.
